In the Basement, Behind a Closed Door

After being charged with sodomy and the sexual abuse of children in the U.S., Avrohom Mondrowitz fled to Israel. Why wasn't he extradited?

A few years ago, A. came to Israel with one mission: "To find him and kill him." He didn't think twice, he says; he really intended to do it. "My wife understood. She knew what I felt and she called friends in Israel, who never left me alone for a minute. They saved me from myself. If not for them, it would have ended in murder
